DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11 April 2008 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 6 and 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Christensen (U.S. Patent 7,415,430).

Regarding Claims 1 and 11, Christensen discloses:

A system and method for downloading music (Fig. 2, which incorporates elements of Fig. 1, specifically the Automatic purchase system) comprising:
a first memory containing information designating a plurality of songs for downloading (i.e. a play list on a removable memory that is readable by a PC of which a user can access the internet for downloading; col. 6 liens 60 – 67; flash card col. 7 lines 30 – 52);
a mechanism for selectively storing song identification information in the first memory based upon a digital transmitted signal (RDS signal; APS server 144 incorporates an audio download location and information inserted into a radio station's broadcast using RBDS/RDS or similar technology; col. 5 lines 60 – 67 and col. 6 lines 1 - 8) which specifically identifies the music (audio content can be tagged for delayed purchase; col. 6; if a user elects to purchase the audio content, a request is made in which information is presented to a server, if a connection is not available, the information can be stored on the internal flash drive; col. 6 lines 7 – 20);
further wherein the mechanism for selectively storing stores information derived from a digital signal (RDS signal) which identifies an artist and song that is played back to a system user (i.e. storing the play list as shown above; and play list information can include the song title, artist or other information; col. 5).

Regarding Claim 6, in addition to the elements stated above regarding claim 1, Christensen further discloses:

wherein at least a portion of the system is incorporated into a radio (i.e. the device is configured to receive radio broadcasts; entire document)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 2 – 4 and 12 – 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Christensen (U.S. Patent 7,415,430).

Regarding Claims 2 – 4 and 12 – 14, in addition to the elements stated above regarding claims 1 and 11, Christensen does not explicitly disclose:

wherein the first memory is an EEPROM, magnetic disc drive or RAM memory. However, Examiner takes official notice that EEPROM, magnetic disc drive and RAM memories are notoriously well known in the art. These memories are art recognized equivalents for the flash memory disclosed in Christensen. Substituting one of these memories would have been obvious to try to one of ordinary skill in the art given the vast knowledge on each of the different types as art recognized equivalents. Each of the various types of memories provides different features that may be preferable for someone recreating the Christensen reference. For example, size, cost, performance and other factors may be desirable for certain implementations and recreations.
